

THE OCEANOGRAPHY SOCIETY FELLOWS PROGRAM

Recognizing individuals who have attained eminence in oceanography through their outstanding contributions to the field of oceanography or its applications during a substantial period of years.

TOS is pleased to announce that the following members have been named Fellows of The Oceanography Society.

ELLEN R.M. DRUFFEL | For advancing the use of natural abundance radiocarbon measurements in marine carbon cycle research

MARLON LEWIS | For seminal contributions advancing our knowledge of ocean optics, physical-biological interactions, and ecology

MARY JANE PERRY | For contributions to the founding and advancement of the subdiscipline of bio-optical oceanography, and the education of more than a generation of bio-optics students

MARY W. SILVER | For pioneering research on the ecology of marine organisms, excellence in teaching, mentoring and service to the oceanographic community

LYNNE D. TALLEY | For advancements in understanding the large-scale circulation of the ocean and dedication to the oceanographic community

CHARLES S. YENTSCH | For promoting oceanography through innovation, fundamental discoveries in bio-optics and phytoplankton production, and the visionary founding of enduring oceanographic programs

The origins of The Oceanography Society (TOS) are rooted in bringing together and recognizing individuals from all fields of oceanography, representing the broad interests of members in research, engineering, industry, policy, and education, and the diversity and international nature of the society. TOS members from all areas of oceanography will be considered for the Fellows Program. A recommendation for advancement to TOS Fellow is appropriate after an individual has been a TOS member for at least three years, depending on his or her contributions to the field. The main criteria for being elected a TOS Fellow are outstanding and sustained contributions, and devotion to the broad field of oceanography, commensurate with the founding principles of the Society.

New Fellows may be selected each year, but no more than 0.5% of the TOS membership of the Society will be advanced to Fellows each year. Any TOS member may nominate another member to be a TOS Fellow. Voting TOS officers, Members of the Council, and Members of the Fellows Committee are not eligible for election during their terms of service. Nominations are to be forwarded to the Fellows Committee, via the TOS Executive Director, by October 29, 2010. Nominations will automatically remain active for two years, but the nominator may revise and resubmit new information at any time.
