

TOS News — January 2016

ARNOLD GORDON AND RANA FINE SELECTED AS TOS FELLOWS

Congratulations to the newest TOS Fellows, Rana Fine (Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science, University of Miami) and Arnold Gordon (Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory, Columbia University). Dr. Fine and Gordon were selected based on their outstanding contributions to the field of oceanography and will be honored during the TOS Breakfast on February 23, 2016 at the Ocean Sciences Meeting. Click here to read more about TOS Fellows.

OCEAN SCIENCES MEETING EARLY REGISTRATION DEADLINE IS JANUARY 6, 2016

When proceeding through the registration system, be sure to click yes when asked if you are a member of TOS (as well as of AGU and ASLO, if applicable) to ensure that the discounted rate appears on the subsequent payment page.

U.S. federal employees: During registration, be sure to indicate the agency you work for in order to receive further information on extensions of the discounted registration rate.

The deadline for registering for housing is January 28, 2016. Click here to reserve your hotel now.

DECEMBER ISSUE OF OCEANOGRAPHY: FULL ELECTRONIC ISSUE POSTED SOON; CHECK OUT NEW WEBSITE

Within the next week, the full electronic version of the December issue of Oceanography magazine titled "A New Look at the Low-Latitude Western Pacific" will be available. Please look for a message from: The Oceanography Society <Distribution233@qmags.com> with instructions on downloading the issue.

In the meantime, you are welcome to view individual articles from this issue by accessing the new and improved Oceanography magazine website. Please send any comments or bug reports to magazine@tos.org.

TOS BREAKFAST AND TOWN HALL ON GRADUATE EDUCATION IN THE OCEAN SCIENCES

If you are planning on attending the Ocean Sciences Meeting in New Orleans, please make plans to attend the TOS Breakfast on Tuesday, February 23rd from 7:00 – 8:00 am at the Morial Convention Center. This event is complimentary and it's a great opportunity to meet other TOS members and also celebrate recent TOS award recipients. More information on registering for the breakfast will be announced in early January.

On Wednesday, February 24th from 6:30 – 7:30 pm, TOS will convene a Town Hall titled What's Right and What's Wrong with Graduate Education in the Ocean Sciences? This lively discussion will take place in room 211-213 of the Morial Convention Center. Refreshments will be served. Stay tuned for more information on this event!